PORTERVILLE TO BECOME AVIATION CENTER FOR WEEKEND MOONLIGHT FLIGHT

PORTERVILLE, June 18 — Porterville Area Pilots association and the Porterville community will host what may prove to be the greatest civil aviation gathering in history during the 12th annual Moonlight Flight, set for Saturday and Sunday, at the Porterville Municipal airport.

If flying weather is good throughout the West, 700 or more planes may come into Porterville for the fly-in; a two-day program is planned at the airport.

Joe Pfifer, industrial aviation operator on the Porterville airport, and also the owner of antique planes that he contracts for motion picture work, reports that $2½ million worth of industrial aviation equipment will be on display at the airport over the weekend.

In addition, there will be military exhibits, special exhibits of private-type planes, antique aircraft, experimental planes, and other displays related to aviation.

Official registration of visiting aircraft will start at 9 a.m., Saturday; dinner will be served at the airport starting at 6:00 p.m., Saturday, with an evening program to include presentation of Fly-in Queen, Miss Diane Milosovich, who agricultural aircraft flight demonstration, demonstration of home-built aircraft, and lunch at noon.

MEXICO AIR TOUR IN AUGUST

PORTERVILLE, June 18 — A nine-day air tour of Mexico will leave Porterville airport August 16 under sponsorship of the Porterville chamber of commerce, with arrangements handled by the Hanson Travel agency of Porterville.

A Western Airlines deluxe DC6B will leave from, and return to the Porterville airport, carrying members of the special tour between Porterville and Mexico City.

Included in the tour will be a round-trip ticket; air ticket from Mexico City to Acapulco; ground transportation from Acapulco back to Mexico City; a four-day tour of Acapulco and Taxco, including hotels and all meals; special sight-seeing side trips with an English-speaking guide, and all transportation between airports and hotels.

Cost of the nine-day tour is $285 per person. For detailed information, travel brochures, or reservations, the Porterville chamber of commerce can be contacted, (Continued On Page 7)

Cowboy Sailor Back On The Range Following Pacific Training Cruise; Sees Porterville Friend In Japan

PORTERVILLE, June 18 — Joe Faure Jr., who, 12 years ago, showed the grand champion steer at the first Porterville fair, is spending a week at home following a four and one-half months training cruise through the western Pacific as an Ensign on the LST, USS Lincoln County.

Ensign Faure is spending a week on the home range enroute to Treasure Island, where he will take a two and one-half month damage control course in fire fighting, and atomic, chemical and biological warfare, after which he will report back to his ship as damage control officer assistant in the engineering department, and also as the ship's legal officer.

Shortly thereafter, he expects to leave on another Pacific cruise, this one of about seven months' duration. He is serving a three-year hitch as a naval reserve officer.

City Manager Offers Resignation

PORTERVILLE, June 18—Resignation of Porterville City Manager Charles Cummings was unanimously accepted by members of the city council Tuesday night, effective September 15. Cummings served for 10 years as Porterville mayor and seven years as city manager. He said that he felt his resignation was in his best personal interest and for the best interest of the city.

Make A Hit With Dad — Serve Steak

WHAT BETTER way to give Dad that little something extra on Father's day, next Sunday, than to serve him a choice, thick-cut steak, cooked just as he likes it? Tulare County Cowbells say that that the kind of steak is not important, maybe a T-bone, a rib, or a Porterhouse, served with tossed green salad, baked potato with a butter-crowned center, and broiled tomato half with seasoned crumbs. And if you want a sauce to bring out the steak's goodness, the Cowbells recommend this recipe: ¼ cup olive oil, ¼ cup melted butter, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, ½ tsp. pepper, ½ tsp. salt, 2 tsp. paprika, 2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce, pinch powdered ginger, pinch garlic powder, 1 tsp. lemon juice. Combine ingredients. Serve on hot steak. Makes ½ cup. Wow. Pop's ready. Let's get to eating!

WASHINGTON AND

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

It would appear that the Canadians are developing another new market in the United States.

And ridiculous as it appears at first blush, that new export item is baked bread.

So far, the influx of cheaper priced Canadian bread is confined to Detroit and the adjacent areas. But the figures on the growth of this business are impressive. At the present time, the imported bread is running around 7 million pounds. On the basis of an average American family consumption of bread annually of somewhere around 440 pounds, this represents a supply for only some 16,000 families, which is not too impressive in the bread business.

But on the other hand, this business has increased 1300% in ten years, is still growing.

The reasons for this silly phenomena are quite plain. For one thing, the U. S. price support policies on wheat keeps the prices of this staple up about 30% higher in this country than across the border. In addition, whereas Detroit bakers must pay $2.05 per hour for unskilled workers, rate in Canada is $1.50.

Canadian bread was thus selling in Detroit for 17 cents for a pound and a quarter loaf versus 24 cents for the American product. This has precipitated a price war which has brought the American product down to around 19 cents, but Canadian bread has by the same token dropped down to a dime or less.

Here is an example not predicated on Oriental coolie labor.

© National Federation of Independent Business

Here is a nation with a high standard of living that due to American labor and farm policies can whip a segment of U. S. business to death.

Probably in a recent meeting of the Senate Small Business Committee Sen. Russell Long stated the problem in a nutshell saying "What we have to watch out for is the foreign producer who is paying 15 or twenty cents per hour for labor and who has equipment as good as ours; even buys our raw material and brings it back in here far below our production cost."

He continued by saying, "The average American tariff on goods coming in here is about 10% and that is only on things that carry a tariff. Now if you are paying a wage that is about four times as high as the other fellow, that 10% tariff is no hill for a stepper at all, he can just leap over it. I think it is factors like that where you really have a right to demand protection, rather than let some competitor get a big advantage over you and continue to whip you."

This is an interesting comment for a responsible member of Congress made in Washington D. C. where in these many years, the do-gooders, the socialistic planners, and the rest of that screaming-meemie tribe have been pushing to even further abolish the protective U. S. tariff system on the basis that this will cause everybody throughout the world to love each other as brothers.

The experience so far with U. S. tariff cutting has proved one thing about love.

Given half a chance, the foreign employer of cheap labor loves to undersell American business in America. In the meantime, American unemployment figures hold at a high rate.

Cowboy Sailor

on his recent cruise met another Porterville boy at Yokosuka, Japan — Don Forrester, gunnery yeoman on the USS Bon Homme Richard; he also saw Marlene Easton, daughter of the George Eastons, former Porterville residents, and Ann Pennington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Pennington, of Porterville, both of whom are attending the University of Hawaii.

While on his recent cruise, Ensign Faure's ship put in at Pearl Harbor, Okinawa, Korea, Formosa and Japan, and also participated in a joint U.S. Navy, Korean amphibian operation, "Sea Turtle."

Meeting Ensign Faure when his ship recently came into Long Beach were his brother, Cyrille Faure, with his son and daughter, Pete and Jill, and his sister, Mrs. Josephine Pratt, and her children, Dick, Tommy and Lynette.

The "Lincoln County" will go into dry dock at Long Beach for a quarter of a million dollar modernization job before going to sea again.

As for his quick impressions of the countries he visited, Ensign Faure liked the Hawaiian Island; he says if he never gets back to Okinawa, that's soon enough; he found Japan to be a beautiful country and the Japanese people courteous to a point of embarrassment to an American; Korea, at least the part he visited, was depressing because of the filth and the low living standard of the people.

During his stay in Porterville, Ensign Faure is calling on his friends, and "just wandering around the ranch." He says he likes the Navy life, but is not counting on it as a career.

MOONLIGHT FLIGHT WORLD FAMOUS

Porterville's annual Moonlight Flight is known and appreciated by fliers throughout the world.

Proof of this comes from Joe Pfifer, industrial aviator operator at the Porterville airport, who, in his world travels in connection with the supplying of antique aircraft for motion picture work, has run into pilots who either participated in a Moonlight Flight, or who had heard about it, in Capetown, South Africa, Paris and London.

Pfifer states that Porterville is known throughout the aviation world as a result of its fly-in — which has become the largest in the world. And the question that is always asked: "How do they do it in a relatively small town like Porterville?"

Possibly the answer to that question is that a few local people decided to promote civil aviation through the social aspects of a fly-in, with emphasis on aviation safety. From the first fly-in, that brought 26 planes, the Moonlight Flight has grown into an event that annually draws from 500 to 600 planes, more than a thousand aviation visitors, major aviation displays at the Porterville municipal field, and a generally enjoyable weekend of entertainment.

Actually, there is nothing like it anywhere; the Moonlight Flight is truly a major event also in so far as publicity for Porterville is concerned, and another example of what people of imagination, with a willingness to work, can do.

Originally, the fly-in was staged by the Porterville Area Pilots association; in more recent years, many community organizations have added a helping hand.

And now, next Saturday and Sunday, the 12th annual Moonlight Flight promises to be the greatest yet, if weather is good; it is an interesting event that well deserves the support of the entire community.

Let'er Buck

By CASEY TIBBS

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo.—It's always been a mystery to me how some guys can spend half their life on a city sidewalk and, all of a sudden, get into rodeo and turn into champions. . . or, at least, get in the standings.

Guess that just goes to show you that a guy can do anything he wants to . . . if he just wants it bad enough.

Take Harry Tompkins . . . born in Peekskill, N. Y. . . who became one of rodeo's finest champions.

Now Peekskill isn't exactly the place you'd expect a cowboy to hail from. Harry used to do a lot of practicing, though — every chance he could. He went to all the eastern dude ranches and, once a year, came in to the Madison Square Garden and Boston rodeos. After a few years of that, ol' Harry turned out to be the world's champion All-Around Cowboy.

Another example was the late Fritz Truan.

Fritz was born in Long Beach, Calif., and never knew what a horse looked like 'til he came to Harry Rowell's ranch at Hayward, Calif.

Ol' Rowell sure did a good job breakin' Fritz in . . . He was as good as they come and a fine credit to the sport of rodeo.

The other day another city slicker and I were ridin' on the same plane . . . both of us on our way to another rodeo.

It was Danny Daniels, a used car salesman who's turned into one of the nation's finest steer wrestlers.

Danny's the cowboy who's really an exception. He used to make a livin' selling automobiles in Portland, Ore., and was 27 years old before he ever stepped into an arena.

When he first started out I usta go 'round makin' bets he wouldn't even catch the steer, let alone throw it. Now he's the leadin' contender for the steer wrestling championship.

The other day I congratulated him on his current spot. Told him I bet that really shook his competitors up — a used car salesman beatin' out the top cowboys.

Danny just looked me up and down and said:

"What's so surprising about that? A used car salesman does business with a lot of people."

Sometimes, a twister gets it when he least expects it.

Deb Copenhaver, the champion bronc rider from Post Falls, Idaho, tore a rib loose the other day in Union, Ore., when a bronc reared up in the chute and fell over backwards on him.

The accident put Deb out of action for about a week. In 13 years of competition, Deb hasn't been hurt very much and he sure don't take to riding in the meat wagon.

They tell me it took half the committee, a couple of cowboys and a mouth full of four-letter words to get him into the ambulance!

Got my first rodeo behind me as a producer at Yankton, S. D., June 6-7. We came out o.k. . . had a good rodeo and seemed to make everyone happy.

Our stock really fired even better than I'd expected and I was pretty high on 'em.

This one will always be one for me to remember. We had about everything happen! Our arena set-up and pens weren't the best; neither were the lights.

One horse crashed through the arena fence and came right down in front of the people, but never touched a soul.

The same performance, the saddle broncs got out. With the help of the cowboys, though, we got 'em back and no one knew we were in a storm — not even our announcer, Don Harrington.

I'd have really been in a spot if I hadn't had the pro's there . . .

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

● Delivery Time

● Arthritis

● Styes

Q. "On our baby ward the 'rush hour' for new arrivals seems to be during the wee morning hours. Is this the general rule?"—A student nurse.
A. Based on an analysis of 33,215 births, more babies are born between 1 A.M. and 3 A.M. than during any other two-hour period. To which many grandmothers will reply, "I knew it all the time."

Q. Can you inherit arthritis?
A. Perhaps not directly but a tendency to develop the disease seems to be inherited. Studies show that arthritis occurs much more frequently among relatives of arthritic sufferers than among relations of non-arthritics. This is especially true in cases of "gouty arthritis."

Q. For the past several months I have had one stye after another. What can be done for this sort of eye trouble?

A. A stye develops when the root of an eyelash becomes infected, usually by a pus-producing germ. English doctors found such a germ in the noses of most people who had repeated styes but only occasionally in other persons. So the doctors decided to treat noses instead of eyes. Patients with repeated styes applied a special ointment to the inside of the nose several times a day for a week or more. The parade of styes was halted. Although the nose treatment alone gave good results it is logical, said the doctors, to treat both the eyelid and the nose. People who require such treatment should, of course, be under the care of a physician.

Answers do not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician.

CHUKAR, QUAIL ARE DOING WELL IN DESERT AREA

By Phil the Forester
FRESNO, June 18 — Wildlife officials trapped, leg banded and released 1,189 chukar partridges and 550 Gambel quail on the El Paso mountain area of eastern Kern county last year.

From this information plus a bag check of hunters during the season it was determined that 17 percent of the chukar population or 996 birds and 14 percent of the quail or 407 were taken by hunters.

"This would indicate that there could have been an increase in the hunter harvest without a reduction in the breeding population," states the fish and game department.

This area is a typical Mojave desert type range containing nine artificial watering devices (guzzlers) and several natural springs.

During the 1957-58 winter, the distribution of rainfall resulted in the best growing season in many years. In the nesting period large numbers of young birds were observed with as many as 40 to 50 in a group accompanied by only one or two adult birds.

On the opening weekend of the hunting season, 90 chukars and 112 quail were taken but these figures were not included in the overall averages. The average take on weekends was 14 chukars and 5 quail per day with week days being 16 chukars and also 5 quail.

The department has concluded that a great deal more interest was shown in chukar hunting in this area last year as compared to previous seasons but the bird population could stand considerably more hunting pressure.

Begins to look as if the bow and arrow fraternity will have their deer season prior to the gun season after all. The legislative bill to by-pass the fish and game commission needs only the assembly vote and the signature of the governor.

Apparently the legislators, organized sportsmen and perhaps even fish and game department employees feel the archers received a "bum deal" at the hands of the commission in unexpectedly abolishing this deer season.

If no obstacles are encountered and the bill (AB 2543) is signed, the coastal archery deer season will be July 11 through 20 and the inland season September 12 through 21.

For the abalone and clam diggers there will be a series of minus tides from June 17 through 25.

Grunion season is open with the next scheduled run of these small fish being June 21 through 24. These fish that come completely out of the water to spawn in the moist sand are found only on southern California beaches but as far north as Pismo Beach, Morro Bay and Cayucos. They spawn only on certain tides, on certain dates and only at night.

An illustrated pamphlet on these unusual fish may be obtained by requesting a copy of "A Guide to the Grunion" from the fish and game department, Sacramento, and remitting 25c.

Sharks, skates and sting rays will be the game fish on Elkhorn Slough, Moss Landing, Monterey county, Sunday, June 21, when the Castroville Rod and Gun Club stages its annual shark derby. Time will be from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m., with lots of prizes for winning fish. Club officials recommend participants bring their own boat and advise that this is striped bass water and fishermen may expect to hook into a big striper as well as one of the rough varieties.

fine of $25 for fishing with two rods at night while Jim Wilson, also of Fresno, paid $50 for the same offense except he used three rods.

Trout fishing is generally good with many of the streams and rivers very low providing excellent fly fishing. Many of the lower elevation waters are already too low and warm for further stocking of trout. The fish that were planned for these waters are being added to the allotments for the bigger and better flows such as the Kings river and San Joaquin river below Friant.

YOUR LEGISLATOR AT WORK!

Senator
J. Howard Williams
32nd District
California State Legislature

During the last hours of our legislative session, it's not a particularly easy job to discuss the more important measures still before us. Even as this is written, decisions are being made or actions taken which will influence the final outcome on legislation which would affect every resident of California.

As of right now, there are three basic issues still before us, but any one of these, or even all three may have been decided before you read this. In addition to these, there are still hundreds of other bills moving through our legislative mills, each of importance to a particular group or groups as well as to the general public.

First of all, there is our state budget for the next fiscal year. Both the Senate and the Assembly have passed a budget bill. The two versions are fairly close together in total, and the differences should not take long to iron out. It seems reasonably certain now that the total will be close to $2,225,000, the highest state budget in history.

Second, there is the matter of new or additional taxes to support this budget. Out of a series of seven new revenue bills, only one, that to up the personal income tax rates, has become law. It is estimated to raise an additional $60,000,000 per year.

Another bill, which would have levied a new tax on the severance of oil and gas, failed to reach the Assembly floor, and has been abandoned by its author. Still another, which in its original form would have put a new tax on all tobacco products, was cut back in the Senate to apply only to cigarettes, passed in that form and then got tied up in conferences between the two houses over the differences.

The remaining four tax measures, as of this writing, are before committees in the Senate. One would increase the tax on beer. Another would up the state's share of horse racing revenues. Another would hike the bank and corporation tax. The last would raise inheritance and gift taxes. The fate of all of them will have been decided by the time we adjourn.

The third and last big issue still to be decided is that of water project legislation and money. The principal bill, which would call for a bond issue of $1,750,000,000 to be voted on by the people and would provide a north-south construction program covering the next twenty-five years, has passed the Senate, though it was several times amended to remove objections. Since then, it has emerged unchanged from the Assembly water committee.

In addition to our work on these basic matters, the statistics show that we haven't done too badly in carrying out our responsibilities under the new constitutional provisions governing our legislative operations. Our procedures were considerably changed because of the elimination of the previous recess, but it is generally felt that results proved satisfactory.

The number of bills introduced in both houses was reduced to 4,400, 35 percent below the record total of 6,900 in the 1957 session. But the percentage of bills given at least one hearing in committee increased remarkably, from 42 percent to 59, indicating a substantial saving in effort and expense. While it is too early to discuss legislation finally enacted, the record on that to date closely approaches the final result for 1957, and may surpass it.

As the 1959 session goes into history, it would seem that its record of accomplishment compares well with those of its predecessors.

CHAPEL CHIMES

By
Rev. N. J.
Thompson

In a back yard on 107th Street in Los Angeles stands a crazy structure known as Watts Towers, built from scrap metal, bedsprings,

75,000 seashells, and several truck loads of broken bottles. H. L. Manley, chief of the Department of Building and Safety, states, "The towers are dangerous and should be torn down. They were built without a permit, without inspection, and without approval of design."

Nimrod and his people built the Tower of Babel without God's approval. People are still trying that. There's Delbert Day, the movie magnate who drinks, swears, and pays alimony to six wives. There's the realtor who found that buying a 75-foot yacht with dirty dollars didn't make him happy.

Each of us is busy building. The value of what we construct depends on the material we use. If we put God first — all day and every day — we won't build any towers on false promises, broken contracts, or old scrap material. We will use solid building blocks like love, joy, faith, hope.

We build with our influence. It is said that the average person affects seven others directly and seventy indirectly. We build with our money. Money itself is neither good nor bad. We make it good or bad, depending on how we spend it. We build with our prayers. A wise New York preacher said recently, "To be happy, you have to be good. If you are dishonest, lustful, or hateful you are bound to be unhappy."

He's so right. And one way to be happy and good is to PRAY.

What did YOU build today? A tower of rubbish, or a monument of beauty for the glory of God?

OLD DAYS

DECEMBER, 1900

SPRINGVILLE—Doctor Schuyler Barber was called here recently to see J. W. Kyle.

The box factory is still sending orange and lemon boxes to Porterville.

Malone Dunham recently tried the experiment of shipping his own oranges to different parts of the state for sale. Seedling oranges are now down to 50 cents a box at the ranch and prime Navel oranges are only $1.50.

Lumber hauling is still going on from the mountains. This is certainly an open winter.

The church near Globe is being repaired.

The three stores here are doing well, which proves that Springville is alive.

Tom Owen is teaching a good school at Mountain View.

Supervisor McFarland is fixing up a nice country home below here. It is an ornament to this valley.

George Dillon is making apple raising pay on the upper Tule. He has a good income from his apple orchard.

There has been active demand for hay for several months at $10 a ton.

The new camp of the Woodmen of the World are going to fit up the old church building for a lodge room.

Many good things come of gardening other than pretty flowers and we would like to point out a few you may have overlooked or possibly have the wrong impression about. Some of these good things include recreation, weight reducing, will power, pioneering, sun bathing, vocabulary improvement, muscle development, salesmanship, and benevolence.

We guarantee the recreation possibilities as you do push ups with the lawn mower, get a shower while moving the sprinkler, and entertain yourself swinging a hoe. In fact with our Hula-Ho you can throw away your golf clubs and swing to your heart's content at little or no cost. This will also do wonders to the figure and make reducing easy. You may not work off much but you'll be too tired to eat any more.

Will power of course is necessary in order to get started outdoors. Gardening will require much of this and even more on your wife's part. Locking you out while you're sleepily looking for the morning paper may help her cause. This will also enrichen your vocabulary and maybe that of any neighbors awake at the time.

While working out of sight in the back yard shorts are advisable. This will give you a fine coat of tan and convince strangers you are the owner of a swimming pool. You'll feel like a pioneer as you fight your way through last year's weeds and develop muscles you never knew you had.

Salesmanship will be necessary to get back in the house before you drop dead. In fact good salesmanship will convince your wife you should forget the yard and spend the weekend at the beach. For the unsuccessful salesman we're open seven days a week. Come see for yourself. E Street north of Olive.

OUR TOWN

By Gardner (Bud) Wheeler

WE HAVE HEARD OF the hanging gardens of Babylon, the sunken gardens of Johor, but our town has the dubious distinction of being the home of the submerged baseball diamonds. Most of our public is unaware of these latter day wonders in the midst of our community, but they may be viewed daily on the southwestern portions of our local High School grounds.

BABE RUTH PLAYERS AND managers were the first to discover this thing of wonder. In spite of comments from the stands, Babe Ruth players do practice on occasion, and for obvious reasons, need considerable room for such exercises. Naturally, knowing that there are three diamonds — baseball — on the High School grounds, they wend their way thence for some muscle flexing.

INSTEAD OF MUSCLE FLEXING the various teams have stopped to view with amazement the playing fields looking like a veritable sheet of water. The Babe Ruth league very kindly furnishes its players with bats, balls, masks and one thing and another for the furtherance of the game of baseball, but it takes a very dim view about furnishing water skis, pontoons or water wings in order to play in the water. This is natural. So, evening after evening, Babe Ruthers optimistically trek to the High School for practice. Evening after evening, they return from a view of the submerged diamonds without the benefit of practice.

IF MEMORY SERVES US right, baseball games are played virtually every night at the Municipal field, the Little League park, Bartlett school, Belleview school, Roche, etc., with no real problem of when and where to water. The grass looks green, too. But for some peculiar reason, the soil at the High School seems to require constant saturation which precludes any muscle flexing activities among the Babe Ruthers. That has to be the explanation; there is no other logic.

TRUTHFULLY, OFFICIALS, PLAYERS and others in the League are getting a little tired of being washed out. They take the rather sound view that they are generally tax-payers and supporters of the school and reasonable use of the facilities is sound and sensible. There are some who will even quote the Educational code to the effect that they have a certain right to the usage under the Civic Center rules.

WE WOULD SUGGEST THAT

TELEPHONE DISPLAY AT WEEKEND FLY-IN

PORTERVILLE, June 18—About 14,000 pounds of Pacific telephone equipment will move into the exhibition space at the Porterville airport during the Fly-in, phone Manager Bob Board has announced.

The company's "Mobile Demonstration Unit" consists of five exhibits highlighting the latest advances in the telephone industry, he said.

Exhibits comprising the unit are housed in a trailer 40 feet long, nearly 8 feet wide and more than 13 feet in height, Board explained.

On hand to explain the displays will be Misses Kathy Mijares and Rosemary Rilla of Pacific Telephone's Public Relations staff. Rounding out the Unit's crew of three is Cal Burgin, Porterville's wire chief, who is in charge of the troupe.

A grand total of 547,912,149 vehicles had passed over the San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge as of March, 1959.

Traffic accidents killed 1,075 persons in California during the first four months of this year.

the powers that be in the School district take a lingering look at the situation before all the soil is washed off the fields. Better still, they might find out how the Municipal park manages to stage games every night and still maintain a fresh and well watered look.

ONE THING IS CERTAIN. Since the novelty has worn off, the sunken diamonds are an unwelcome sight to the Babe Ruthers, and if the water keeps standing on them, someone is apt to call in the mosquito abatement forces.

Range Prospect Poorest Since '39

SACRAMENTO, June 18—Range and pasture conditions in California are the poorest for any June since 1939, with results of light winter rains showing up in virtually all areas of the state. Average condition in the state is reported at 67 per cent of normal.

Cottage cheese has enjoyed the greatest growth in sales in major dairy products over the past 10 years. Consumption per capita in 1957 was 5.2 pounds, an increase of 80% from the 2.9 pounds in the 1947-49 period.

By Slim Washburn

Fishing pressure has been very light on the Tule river watershed this season, and combined with heavy planting of catchable trout each week, makes fishing very good in the planted areas.

Water is very low in all forks of the Tule, but the Nelson fork, Wishon fork above Camp Wishon, and the upper part of the North fork still are carrying good heads of water. Fly fishing is good in all unplanted areas.

Big and Little Kern rivers, reached from the pack stations at Quaking Aspen, are very good. Lots of small fish on Little Kern; bigger limits on Big Kern.

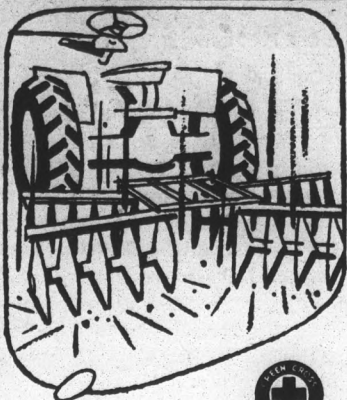

All high country lakes and streams reached from the Balch Park pack station good, except Summit lake, which remains poor. Maggie, Hidden, Blossom, and Evalyn lakes are very good.

Winter wheat crop in the United States this year is forecast at 941,236,000 bushels, compared to 1,179,924,000 bushels last year.

HARRY HOOPER, ROSS WELCH GET TROUT

PORTERVILLE, June 18—Harry Hooper, one of the all-time greats of baseball who played with the world champion Boston Red Sox 40 years ago, and Ross Welch, retired game warden, of Porterville, came out of the mountains last week with nice limits of trout.

They camped between the forks and Kern Flat on Big Kern river, near Deadman canyon. Welch rode out with three broken ribs, suffered when he fell while fishing. He checked into the Sierra View hospital for a few days when he got back, but is now at home.

Hooper and Welch, who are long-time friends, annually make a fishing trip to Kern river.

ROTARY PRESIDENT AT CONVENTION

PORTERVILLE, June 18—Jack Natzke, incoming president of the Porterville Rotary club, has returned from New York City, where he was a delegate to the 50th annual convention of Rotary International. More than 16,000 Rotarians and their guests, from most of the 113 countries of the world in which there are Rotary clubs, were present.

The United States has 3,012,500 miles of rural roads.

We Only Heard

By BILL RODGERS

WHEN WE said last week that the "voice of the people would be speaking" at this week's city council meeting concerning the two-hour time limit on city parking lots, we were right, for a considerable delegation was on hand to express disapproval of the two-hour parking limit.

UPSHOT OF the discussion was that the council asked the Porterville Merchants' committee to re-appraise the problem of parking in the city of Porterville and came up with a report at the next council meeting.

WE HAVE commented considerably in the past on the matter of parking, and to this comment we would like to add one further point that appears to be emphasized by current situation in which city parking lots, for the most part, are virtually empty during the day, or which are being used to only a small percent of their capacity.

THE POINT is this: When "all-day" parkers do not use city parking lots, it becomes evident that the city of Porterville has plenty of parking space for its so-called shoppers on an average day, for there is space going to waste on parking lots. And, of course, this space is available to those all-day shoppers who work in business houses when they "change hats" and become shoppers.

ACTUALLY, THE city has two parking problems: One is the accommodation of shoppers; the second is the accommodation of all-day parkers, most of whom are store personnel.

JUDGING BY the presently available spaces on all parking lots, the first problem is pretty well taken care of on an average day in Porterville, for, under present conditions, there is plenty of parking available for the person who wants to stop and shop for awhile.

BUT THE second problem is still a problem to the individuals concerned, for people working in stores have to park some place, most of them have to park for at least a half-day at a time, and, naturally, they want to park as close as possible to the place they work.

SINCE SHOPPERS, through use of city parking meters, have provided and are providing for development of off-street parking, it is those persons who are shopping in Porterville who deserve first consideration, including persons who work in Porterville stores when those persons become shoppers.

YET, IT is not realistic to ignore the problem of all-day "business" parking, particularly when space is going begging on city parking lots.

In 1958, there were 22,357,000 dairy cows on America's one and a half million dairy farms. The estimated production was at the high level of 126.1 billion compared to 126.4 billion pounds, the record high in 1957, or almost 60 billion quarts.

Extended Telephone Service For Springville And Terra Bella Under Consideration By Utility Commission

PORTERVILLE, June 18 — The California Public Utilities commission has taken under consideration Pacific Telephone's petition to start extended area service — no long distance charges — between Porterville and Terra Bella and between Porterville and Springville.

On June 10, the Commission held a hearing in San Francisco at which reports regarding this service were given by the Commission staff, Pacific Telephone and General Telephone.

Local Pacific Telephone Manager R. C. Board said that the question of extended service between Porterville and the Strathmore area of Lindsay also will be determined by future Commission action.

"Pacific Telephone stated in its testimony that it could establish the proposed Porterville-Springville-Terra Bella extended service within 18 months after authorization is received from the commission," Board said.

ton Curtis Frontier Airways will stage a fire drop by aerial tankers; at 1:30 p.m., Ralph Wiggins, Hollywood stunt man who made a hot air balloon ascension at the Porterville fair, will join a Hollywood stunt team in a wing walking performance and a parachute pull off. At 2:15, Miss Milosovich will present awards to winners of various competitive events that will be staged for pilots.

Assisting the Porterville Area Pilots' association with the fly-in will be the Porterville Junior chamber of commerce, the senior chamber, the Civil Air Patrol, the Civil Aeronautic Authority, the Zonta club, the American Legion and Legion Auxiliary, Business and Professional Women, and the Orange Belt Saddle club.

Regular bus schedule will be maintained between the airport and Porterville, as well as to Lindsay, for the benefit of visiting pilots.

It is estimated that from 5,000 to 6,000 persons will visit the airport, in addition to flyers, over the weekend.

The annual Moonlight Flight was started 12 years ago when 26 planes came in, and bonfires were built along the runway for night landing.

Ten years later, the Porterville airport, for a period of 23 hours during the peak of the fly-in, became the busiest airport in the nation by actual plane count.

The Moonlight Flight is a major project of the Porterville Area Pilots association, now headed by Chet Powers, president.
